

*Happiness is not a reward, it is a consequence.
(Robert Green Ingersoll).*

Dear reader,

We live in a world of many paradigms, concepts and approaches. We live in a world where the interpretation of the phenomena around us intertwine and collide on mathematical-logical premises and emotionally-heuristic settings. As much as it is confusing and often seemingly unacceptable, we need to fundamentally rethink everything. Because it all sometimes confusing, even chaotic, can be devastating if we restricts and inhibits us, but may represent a fortune, if gives us a new vision of the possibilities and opportunities for new swings. In this context, it is this whole issue of the journal Acta Kinesiologica, ie. Vol. 8, Supplement 1. This is not the addition of previous issues, nor is inserted for a few more articles. On the contrary, it was the target task, which is intended to open new horizons, especially in sports games (although much more global). Several authors, most notably the main creator Leo Pavičić, they embarked on a "dangerous" task that is always walking on the edge - with four steps into the unknown, or at least insufficiently known. As you may see if you did read all the material, where this will end nor objectively we are not able to estimate. In that sense, we do not know to whom will such knowledge be pleasant, and to whom does not. But what we know for sure is that g.Ingersoll could well understood that maybe some of us will be at least a little happier and that's only because this material will cause some consequences, and for happiness is sometimes enough maybe that's just it.

*Executive Editor
Prof. Vinko Lozovina, PhD*

*Sreća nije nagrada, ona je posljedica
(Robert Green Ingersoll).*

Dragi čitatelju,

Živimo u svijetu brojnih paradigmi, koncepcija i pristupa. Živimo u svijetu u kojemu se pri interpretaciji pojava oko nas prepliću i sudaraju matematičko-logičke premise i emocionalno-heurističke postavke. Koliko god to bilo zbunjujuće i često naizgled neprihvatljivo, valja nam temeljito promisliti o svemu. Jer to sve ponekad konfuzno, pa i kaotično, može biti poražavajuće ako nas ograničava i sputava, ali može predstavljati i bogatstvo, ako nam daje mogućnosti novih vizija i prigode za nove zamahe. U tom kontekstu je i cijeli ovaj broj časopisa Acta Kinesiologica, tj. Vol. 8, Supplement 1. To nije dodatak prethodnim brojevima, niti je ubačen radi nekoliko članaka više. Naprotiv, to je bila ciljana zadaća, čija je namjera otvarati nove horizonte, naročito u sportskim igrama (iako i mnogo globalnije). Nekolicina autora, ali ponajviše idejni tvorac Leo Pavičić, upustili su se u "opasan" zadatak koji je uvijek hod po rubu – sa četiri koraka u nepoznato, ili barem u nedovoljno poznato. Kako ćete vidjeti kad iščitate cijeli material, gdje će to završiti, objektivno niti nije moguće procijeniti. U tom smislu ne znamo ni kome će takve spoznaje predstavljati zadovoljstvo, a kome ne. Ali ono što sigurno znamo jest da bi g.Ingersoll dobro razumio da će možda neki od nas biti barem malo sretniji, i to samo zato jer će ovaj material prouzročiti neke posljedice, a za sreću je možda ponekad dovoljno eto samo to.

*Izvršni Urednik
Prof.dr.Vinko Lozovina*